BOXING HALL DAGENHAM

APPEAL TO CO

To The Editor,

Dear Sir,— Sportsmen of Dagenham, are you aware of the largest suburb of London possessing splendid talent in the art of self-defence—boxing? A local Amateur Boxing Club has been fighting for the past year for recognition, and the A.B.A., and have succeeded.

Beginning with school children travelling up through the professionals, you have a bunch of boxers as good as in any Borough in Britain. London's largest suburb has there is not a hall to hold an evening excepting for such excursions as whist drives, dances, sewing (or gossiping) debates, that would be the politicians who get

This Amateur Boxing Club hold all its fixtures on the club's ground because of the body or authority who have a hall occasionally for a boxing tournament, thereby the citizens of Dagenham have the opportunity of seeing the talent. Apart from the clubs until the latest possible moment. He told me that, in his view, it was the amateur clubs of the country that had suffered in "gate" attendances since Football Pools were started. He put forward the view that a man, who hitherto had spent eightpence or a shilling to watch an amateur match, preferred to spend the money filling in coupons, lured, of course, by the attractive possibility of making a fortune, small or large, overnight. "If the ban is effective," he said, "and the Pools are killed, I am willing to wager that amateur attendances will show an increase." I told him that there might be other causes, and that anyway football gambling was already a sore subject, without his contributing to it. We left it at that.

PETTIT FARM THREATENED.
THE news that there is some likelihood of Pettit Farm closing down must come as a surprise to many people, although I think that, however desperate the financial situation, some means will be devised of carrying on the work there. Dagenham owes a lot to the settlement, which in the early days was the centre for most of the various local organisations which then existed, and which even now is a "home" for various kinds of activities. Mr. C. Ireland, speaking at the annual supper of the Pettit Farm organisations, vented the criticism that the settlement had failed to develop in proportion to the estate itself. If it had, I am afraid, the present place would have been a building of amazing dimensions, more suitable as the town hall of a large provincial city than the headquarters of a social settlement.

AN EARLY LESSON?
AS a matter of fact, the value of Pettit Farm cannot be estimated by the size of the premises. It was founded in the early days as a social and educational centre, and it admirably served that purpose. Still, a little criticism does not do any harm, especially as it comes from an old stalwart of the place in Mr. Ireland. Incidentally, he did not confine his remarks to the "Farm." Rather vigorously, he "went for us," because, so he said, the local Press had not helped to further the work in the district. I would gently suggest that the officials at the settlement consider commencing a course for the inhabitants to enlighten them on the functions of a newspaper.

THE DOCKLAND SETTLEMENT.
THE branch of the Dockland Settlement at Dagenham has already played an important part in local life. Mr. D. Minton, the Warden, told me that since they had come into the district the probation officers at the Juvenile Police Court and the police themselves had informed Sir Reginald Kennedy-Cox that their duties had been considerably lightened. I do not know whether any statistics are available, but I believe that owing to the preponderance of children and youths in relation to the rest of the population the Court at Barking is one of the most over-worked in this country. Don't infer from that that the youngsters here have criminal tendencies. Unfortunately, they are not catered for sufficiently by social organisations, and it is for that, and other reasons, that the coming of the Dockland Settlement to the locality should be welcomed.

SPLENDID MATERIAL.
IN the past Dagenham children have been unduly criticised. Why, I honestly don't know, because for every young hoodlum in the district there are a hundred others, who could supply the answer as to whether the building of the Becontree estate was a waste of money. From what I have Wheatley, 21, labourer, of 211, North-street, Barking, surrendered to their bail charged on remand with insulting behaviour at Eket-street, Barking. Savill and Wheatley were also charged with assaulting the police.

The evidence showed that after a riot in a cafe in East-street, when china and mirrors were smashed, a hostile crowd assembled. When Sumpton was arrested he struggled with P.C. Abernethy, and when on the ground Savill kicked the officer in the ribs. On the way to the station Wheatley jumped on the back of S.C. Rattenbury and punched him on the head and neck.

The Chairman (Mr. W. J. O. Shack) said the police must be protected. Savill and Wheatley were fined 4s. and Sumpton 2s.

OLD VILLAGE RESIDENT'S DEATH.

The funeral of Mr. George Arthur Greenhill, aged 73 of Church-street, Dagenham, took place on Monday week at Dagenham Churchyard. Mr. Greenhill was a well-known inhabitant of the Old Village, and his passing on February 16th after an illness of only two weeks, came as a shock to his many friends. He is survived by a widow.

A large number of sympathisers attended the funeral, the mourners being: The Widow, Mr. A. Greenhill (father), Mrs. T. Hardy (sister), Mr. and Mrs. Cole (sister and brother-in-law), Mr. J. Allen (brother-in-law), Mr. and Mrs. S. Iden, Mr. and Mrs. Ling, Mrs. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Compton, Mr. R. Carter (brother and sisters-in-law), Mr. J. Allen, Mr. I. King (nephews).

Floral tributes were:—The Surviving Widow; Dad, Bill and Les; Alice, Doris and Tom; Brenda; Rosalind and Pat; Mary (Arnold); Ma Allen; Joe and family; Ada; Ed Sam; Betty and George; Maud; Horie; Alan and Ruby; Grace and Charles; Wal and Charlie; Win, Bob and girls; George, VI, Fred and Freda; John, Evelyn and Sheila; Sam, Rose and family; Marjorie; Daphne and Kathleen; Aunt Lizzie and family; Edna; Fella; Workmates; Mrs. Le. Messrs. West and Coe were the undertakers.

THE LATE MR. G. H. NASH.

UNION JACK AT EX-SERVICEMAN'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mr. George Nash, of 22, Loughborough-road, Dagenham, who died on February 14th, took place last Friday at Hilleside Cemetery.

Mr. Nash, who had been ill for a number of years, was a former R.Q.M.S. of the 1st P.O.W. Royal Lancers, in which regiment he served for 21 years. On leaving the Army he was employed at Barclay's Bank, from which he retired on account of ill health.

The service at Hilleside was conducted by the Rev. Hartley S. Brock, of St. Mary's Church, Becontree, and those at the graveside included: The Widow, Mr. Geoffrey Nash and Miss social life of Dagenham residents seen made in the establishment of a branch of the Dagenham Settlement. The Settlement is situated in Becontree-avenue and was once a shopping arcade but turned into commodious premises affording an admirable headquarters for the work.

Seventh Of Its Kind.

The branch is the seventh of its kind to be established, other branches in existence at Canning Town, the movement originated, at Bristol, Rotherhithe, Southampton and Poplar. Already, under the aegis of the local Warden, Mr. D. Minton, and the Warden of the girls' section, Miss D. Oldham, flourishing membership has been built up, the register showing a total of over 1,000. Mr. Minton, who has fourteen years' experience of the work at Canning Town, has planned a programme specially suited to the needs of the district, and being ably assisted by Miss Oldham who retired after eighteen years with the Settlement, but decided to help at Dagenham when she was told that a new branch was to be formed there.

Cleverly Adapted.

Passers-by in Becontree would be justified in associating the exterior of the premises with the iron gate leading to the market, for the two main entrances to the building clearly indicated it has been cleverly adapted to suit the purposes of the Settlement, all completely nullify the impression received outside.

The idea of establishing a branch in the district was the outcome of a number of requests made to Sir Reginald Kennedy-Cox, the Warden, by former members of the organisation at Canning Town, who had married and gone to live elsewhere. They said that they had been offered by the Canning Town Settlement, and asked if it was possible for a branch to be established locally. It was this, and, for other reasons, that drew the attention of Sir Reginald and his colleagues to the possibilities of Dagenham as a new sphere for activities.

Empty Five Years.

Inquiries were made, and even the arcade, which had been practically empty for five years, was rented for the premises. The ingenuity and resourcefulness required in carrying out alterations well be imagined, but the transformation of the dingy shopping market into suitable Club quarters was successfully accomplished. The cost of the alterations and the equipment was somewhat in excess of the neighbourhood of £1,000.

Its Amenities.

Now the Settlement is in possession of a building which comprises, in addition to other accommodation, a large hall, certainly as large as any other in the district, a number of club lounges, a dressing room, work and handicrafts rooms, a billiard room, and lastly, at the rear of the building, and with its own entrance from the street, a really beautiful chapel. The pews for this were obtained free as the result of an advertisement appearing in a Church of England journal. Club services held for the various sections, the price being quite a simple one, members are expected to attend regularly as possible. Every service on the second Sunday, Holy Communion is celebrated by the Chaplain, Mr. W. C. Harting, Vicar of St. Thomas Church.

THOUSANDS THROUGH EVERY WEEK.

INVALUABLE WORK OF PETTIT FARM.

SPEAKER COMPLAINS OF "LACK OF VISION".

The early days of the settlement were recalled by Miss B. Murray, in speaking at the second annual supper and social of Pettit Farm, Dagenham, on Tuesday. The function, which was attended by about forty people, proved very successful and an enjoyable time was spent.

Mrs. E. Cooper presided over the gathering and the visitors included Sir Edmund Philippe, C.B., a member of the committee responsible for Pettit Farm.

Following an excellent repast the toast of "The Farm" was given by Mr. H. J. Janaway, who said that many of those present knew the work which was being carried on, and knew, too, the onerous duties that that work entailed. Those duties had been shouldered with enthusiasm by the officials of the settlement.

Appeal For Co-operation.
He expressed the hope that as time went on the work would be spread and become of more value than ever, thus making the "Farm" a greater centre of activity than ever. Those connected with the committee appreciated what was being done by the officials, and he appealed to the various organisations to co-operate in so far as that their task would be lightened.

Miss B. Murray, who has been associated with the settlement since it was founded, responded to the toast, and mentioned that it was in 1927 or 1928 that Sir Wyndham Deedes, of the Settlements' Association, was told about Dagenham, and decided that something must be done. He was connected with other bodies, including the National Council of Social Service and the Educational Settlements' Association, and eventually it was of mind to provide the district with the type of settlement that it required; a place which would be un denominational and non-political, and where the residents could meet.

Why The Farm Was Chosen.
"Our great difficulty was money," Miss Murray added, "but somebody came along with a hefty cheque. Then one day Sir Wyndham and Capt. Ames, the L.C.C. agent here, went round looking for a suitable place. Gile-street farm was thought of, but at that time it was considered too far away, and finally the choice fell down to either the Vincies or Pettit Farm. I selected the Farm in the end, and do you know why? Well, because there was a lovely jasmine growing over the front. Incidentally, when the L.C.C. labourers came along to decorate the place they told me that the jasmine would have to be cut down, as they could not paint the door."

"In 1930 we built the present hall at a cost of about £200."
The speaker recalled some of the workers associated with the settlement then, and named a number of organisations started in the hope that they would one day become independent. She added that their hope had been realised and that they had become self-supporting. She instanced the educational work which was carried on, and said that it was taken over by the Essex Education Committee. The Boys' and Girls' Club also to a certain extent owed its origin to Pettit Farm.

A Thousand A Week.
"I rather fancy there are over 1,000 people who come into the Farm each week," she remarked. "I think it is a success, not because of the organisations, but because of those who come in and out every day, and take the opportunity which the settlement gives by serving the community."
Amidst laughter, she said that it was at Pettit Farm that she cooked her first kipper.

The toast of "The Warden and Deputy Warden" was submitted by Mrs. E. Janaway, who said that Miss Stewart and Miss Applin had done a splendid work. She hoped that Miss Stewart would soon recover from her illness, and on behalf of the Organisations' Committee, she wanted to make a presentation to Miss Applin.

Never Any Friction.
Miss E. M. Applin, Acting Warden, expressed suitable thanks for the gift and added that Miss Stewart was making progress and might one day be returning to them. She thanked the numerous people who had co-operated with her and said that such work would be a life use to those who were interested in it. That is a matter on which we can congratulate ourselves," Miss Applin remarked. "All our organisations work smoothly together and there is never any friction. Tolerance has always been a marked trait of the English and it is because we are tolerant towards each other that we do go along so well."

"The Visitors" were proposed by Mr. C. Briand, who expressed regret that they did not have a more prosperous "Farm" in which to welcome their guests. He went on to say that who ever thought of establishing the settlement certainly had a brilliant idea, but someone or other the "Farm" had not developed on the same lines as the Estate. Instead of coming bigger it seemed to have got back.

Rumours Of Closing Down.
"There was talk some time ago," he said, "that perhaps the 'Farm' would have to close down; that would be most regrettable, because it is the only institution of its kind in Dagenham. There are dozens and dozens of organisations in the district, and although I may be mistaken—and I have lived here for twelve years—I have not yet found a place where denominational religious or party politics did not come into it except at Pettit Farm. You can come in here at any time and you are not worried either by religion or politics; if Pettit Farm had I think it would be a tremendous loss, not only to Dagenham, but to the district here, in this place we are free in every way."

Had These Ideas In Vision.
Mr. Briand explained that he was not saying that any one at any time associated with the "Farm" should have made it better than it was, but he did think that had there been more vision it would be a greater centre for social activity in Dagenham than it was at present. He declared that residents wanted, not a five-day work, a place where they would be free to hold intercourse with their friends, and that they disliked being hampered by restrictions.

Sir Edmund Philippe, in his reply to the toast, said that he was delighted to be present, and mentioned that this was the third night he had spent in Dagenham, and an becoming half a Londoner, he remarked.

He added that it was pleasant to hear one of two names mentioned, and he was pleased to be told that Miss Stewart was sitting the corner. Unfortunately, he had news of another friend of the "Farm," Mr. W. Meanting, the former Warden, and he was sorry to say that he had just died.

Sir Edmund also said that Sir Wyndham Deedes was present by a prior engagement from attending that night.

Great Room For The Settlement.
He had listened to a interest to all the speeches that had been made particularly to that by Mr. Briand. He the speaker, was associated with the responsible committee for Pettit Farm, and they were faced with problems of finance, which were rather serious problems. But at the same time when he came to the settlement and had a discussion he went back and explained how large the interest was, and said that the "cathodrons" was so valuable. What he had said that night shower that there was a great room for a settlement in a district like Dagenham. He sympathised with what Mr. Briand had pointed out, but, of course, there had to be certain educational restrictions.

The speaker stated that he would go away hoping that the place would be preserved, not only that it might have a longer life, but that it might have a wider sphere, if possible.

The Dagenham Male Voice Choir, led by Mr. D. McGregor, contributed to the programme, while others who entertained were Miss Gardiner's party, Mr. Toze, music from Mrs. Brown's school of pupils, and Mr. Dixon. Mr. McGregor rendered a solo "Old London Thames," while a number of gait arrangements for the band were in the hands of Miss Dixon.

TANKER ABANDONED IN THE CITY.

FORMER DAGENHAM MAN CHARGED.

ALLEGED THEFT OF PETROL.

Sent For Trial.

At the Stratford Police Court on Saturday, George Froeman, 29, a motor driver, late of Gorsebrook road, Dagenham, was again brought up in custody, charged on remand with having stolen over 300 gallons of petrol, valued at £13, the property of his employers, the Sun Transport Co., Ltd., of Hipsleyde, Barking.

At the first hearing, James Henry Sampson, of 28, East Hill, Barking, the manager of the firm, stated that on January 23rd the prisoner was sent out with 1,000 gallons of petrol to deliver at Walthamstow and Finchley (500 gallons each). He made the first delivery and later in the day a telegram was received from the prisoner which led to the discovery of the tanker in Tooley-street, near London Bridge, where it had been abandoned, with over 200 gallons of petrol missing. On January 25th, when prisoner was seen at Barking police station, he denied that he had stolen any of the petrol and added that he lost himself in London and that when he found himself near London Bridge he abandoned the tanker in Tooley-street, because it had been giving him trouble since he left Barking in the morning.

The Manager, in cross-examination, admitted that the tanker was filled on the Saturday and that a watchman was in charge until prisoner took it out on the Monday morning, and he did not consider that during the interval it was possible for any person to have "syphoned" part of the contents of prisoner's tanker into another.

Prisoner, who pleaded not guilty, gave evidence on oath, and said the deficiency of petrol arose from him taking petrol for the use of his own lorry, but mainly by reason of leakages from the taps of the petrol tanks after he had loaded up at Thames-haven on the Saturday. He now gave his address at 6, Charles-street, Leicester, and said he was in permanent employment there. In fact the man he was working for was assisting him in his defence. Accused called two witnesses to support his story of the leakages and defectiveness of his tanker.

He was committed for trial at the Central Criminal Court on March 17th and was refused bail.

GOOD NEWS FOR MEN.

That he can fit any foot. However difficult it may be, is the proud boast of Mr. Green, the proprietor of what is Dagenham's most up-to-date shoe store, the Waltham Shoe Company, at the corner of Heathway and Deeds Road. In this shop, where "Civility and Service" is the motto, whether your foot is very wide or very long, you can be assured of getting satisfaction and foot-comfort, and every attention from Mr. Green, who is a firm believer in the value of personal supervision in one's shoes.

A very excellent line that Mr. Green has at the moment, will appeal to those whose work keeps them out of doors in all weathers. He has 2,000 pairs of genuine Army boots, very pure Government stamped, of which to dispose. These are ideal for heavy-work, and the price of 6/11 is ridiculously low considering the value in hard-wear that they offer. With Mr. Green it is a case of fair wear, or a new pair. But there's not much chance of him having to replace any of these boots. They give more than fair wear!

DAGENHAM CONSERVATIVE CLUB Sports Section.

As previously announced in these columns, the extension to the present Club premises has commenced and should be completed in about a fortnight's time. The opening will be marked by a grand final night, consisting in billiards, croquet, darts, and darts meeting, to decide their superiority.

ROMFORD CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION. WORKING MEN'S FLUTTERS.

AM HORTICULTURAL ASSOCIATION.

Today the usual monthly show was held at Central Hall, under the chairmanship of Mr. C. Briand and a very evening resulted. There were very fine vases of flowers for Amateur Judges later by the audience. Due to these members an example of energy and by bringing additional flowers along, since apart from prizes there are no prizes.

Mr. Elcock assistant secretary gave a very concise talk on general horticultural matters which caused the matter of great value to those present. July 11th is a busy day when Mr. J. Keeling, Show Judge will accompany the Judge of Dagenham to decide the best front gardens entered in the Association's own competitions. We would urge our members those who are not members to be two very happy affairs in Dagenham on Saturday, St. Georges, Rogers-road, where is being held which all are to visit and if possible bring a vase of Mr. Maxam, 10, St. Georges, in their Open Classes. The show is being held at the Central Hall, Osborne Square, Dagenham and Sisterhood is having a Flower Show, there being three vases of Perennials, each vase a vase of flowers. Entrance fee 4d. Rules and entry forms can be obtained on any day of show before 5.30 p.m. for exhibitors to make their arrangements in making theirs a success. The D.H. and A.A. will be both.

Entries entered will be judged on Saturday week-end when five and six will compete for the Dagenham Trophies. Whilst on our allotment holders we would like to take interest in the Show and endeavour to get a vegetable exhibit a record.

Our Flower Show is being held at Central Hall, Heathway, Dagenham, Allwood Bros., famed for carnations and the largest shows have been held to give Dagenham a special range of carnations. They are staging on Saturday at Central Hall.

At the same time we would earn that our Spring Show would increase their exhibits whilst we do not forget that at least visit if possible exhibit some vegetables. We shall have a special range of carnations and rival competitors and sportsmen from the Horticultural Association to take part in the WILD BIRDS IN CAPTIVITY.

DAGENHAM PRINTER FINED.

At the Stratford Police Court on Tuesday, George Hilditch, a compositor, of 80, Westfield-road, Dagenham, was summoned at the instance of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, for having sold two cock linnets which were not close-ringed specimens showing they had been bred in captivity.

He was defended by Mr. W. Daybell and pleaded not guilty.

Evidence was given by Leslie Polard, a baker's roundsman, that on September 6th he saw an advertisement of the defendant and bought from him two linnets for 6/-. They both had rings and defendant told him that he had bred them himself. Eight days later one of the birds died, and being told by a friend that they were wild he went to defendant and subsequently reported the matter to the society.

In reply to Mr. Daybell, witness admitted that he went to defendant to get a guarantee or his money back, telling him that a friend had told him that the last man summoned had to pay a £20 fine.

Inspector Henry Hall, of Ilford, of the R.S.P.C.A., said the birds were wild ones. The rings slipped easily off the birds' legs.

Defendant said he was a novice and kept a few birds as a hobby. He bought the linnets twelve months ago from bird fanciers.

The Bench imposed a fine of 5/- and ordered the live bird to be liberated in Epping Forest.

WELL-KNOWN FOOTBALLER MARRIED.

MR. M. T. WILSON HUMPHREY AND MISS I. C. CHOPPEN.

A well-known Ilford footballer, now plays for Barking, was married at St. Margaret's Parish Church, Barking, on Tuesday evening. He was Mr. Matthew Thomas Wilson Humphrey, eldest son of Mrs. J. Humphrey, of 41, Ferndale-road, Barking, and the late James Humphrey. The bride was Miss Ivy Constance Choppen, A.L.C.M., a music teacher, the daughter of Mrs. W. Choppen, of Westbury-road, Barking.

Mr. Humphrey is the ex-Ilford and Leyton and Ilford footballer, a clever outside left. He has played in teams representing the County F.A., Barking and Badger, Amateur F.A., the London F.A., Athenian, Spartan, London and Houses, Leytonstone, and Barking Park Leagues. His uncle was a famous footballer.

The Rev. H. Martin officiated. Mr. F. J. Tait, who was the organ, played Lohengrin's "Wedding March" and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," in addition to accompanying the singing of the "Lead us, Heavenly Father." Ernest Killey was best man.

On Wednesday, the 18th inst., Mrs.
 Hampshire addressed the meeting on "My God, who art Thou whom I serve," 27th chapter Acts V, 33. "My God" - by exaltation, and "My God" - by redemption, and "My God" - by sanctification. Her earnest address was much appreciated. Mrs. Coulson sang two beautiful solos, "Tell me the old, old story" and "Come into Me, it is My Saviour's Voice."
 Last Wednesday, Mrs. Tomlin was the speaker and her very eloquent address was on "All things,"
 Her two recitations, "What is fame, what is glory" and "What have you done today" were greatly appreciated.

LOCAL TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT.

The Dagenham Branch of the N.A.B.W.T.A.U. held their fortnightly meeting at Heathway Central Hall, on Tuesday. The chair was taken by Rev. Harry Lockwood (minister) and the speaker was Miss Hansell, who dealt with the work of the League of Nations. The soloist was Mrs. Neel.

The first half started off with the Saints attacking, and this kept up through an uneventful half. Although the Prichetts they were unable to score. On the resumption the Saints were on the offensive and within minutes F. Hunter scored with a shot after some good work from T. Jenkins. Encouraged by this the Saints kept up their attacking and put out some grand combination pretty moves which had the Dockers well beaten. About half-way in the second half T. Jenkins scored the second goal after the ball had been worked through from the centre. After the Saint's forwards were brought down with good combination Hunter finished the movement with a good shot. Although it now seemed hopeless the visitors still tried to get the ball down, but were unable to past an excellent defence, being able only to get in two long shots which did not reach the mark.

Next week the Saints visit Horn Juniors at Elm Park, and this should prove a good match.

ROUND LEAGUE CHALLENGE CUP (REPLAY),

Villa 2, Marlborough II 3.

Central Park, on Sunday, Park played Marlborough II in the first of the League Cup. Owing to the weather lately, the game was not in a very good condition but both teams overcame this. The game, as that of last week was played in a clean and fair manner, and was fast and exciting the whole time. Two things were noteworthy. First, the half-back by the Marlborough's centre, who recently was transferred from the first team; and the second was a penalty against the Villa, which have given away a good few this season.

The advantage of the wind in the first half, Marlborough attacked. The Villa goal was heavily guarded and finally fell after ten minutes' play, when a Marlborough player was fouled. Ryan, with no mistake, putting the ball in the far corner of the goal. Fifteen minutes later, Marlborough again scored, only five minutes touching the ball. The Marlborough's goalkeeper took a goal-keeping penalty against the Villa's half, who headed it goal-wards. Marlborough back got the ball and kicked it down the centre to the Villa who raced on, pursued by a defender. The Villa goalkeeper, seeing the oncoming danger, left his legs into the goal. The Villa had the advantage of the wind in the second half and were on the attack. After thirty minutes of exciting play the Villa retook their arrears. Reeves shot but hit the post, and from the Villa Kimble netted. The Villa level, soon afterwards. During the back Reeves received the ball, giving no room to move, passed Lee, who sent in a great shot, the ball hit the upright and rebounded into play. Weddle retrieved and scored with a nice shot. Both strove hard for the winning goal which was scored later by Marlborough. Ryan beat the goalkeeper high centre, the ball going over the keeper's head. The Villa passed out of the Cup, and the Villa wish Marlborough II every success in the later rounds.

season. The Dockers won the toss and decided to kick against a very strong breeze, and from the very kick-off outplayed their opponents.

Ten minutes after the start W. Davis, playing at centre-forward, opened the scoring, and despite kicking against the wind he followed this goal with three more in the first half. The visitors only replied once, this being a very lucky goal, as H. Perry, the Dockers' pivot, put through his own goal.

Half-time score:— Dockers 4, New Barking 1.

On the resumption it looked as though the Dockers would reach double figures, but bad shooting and some remarkable saves by Young, the visitors' goalkeeper, prevented this. H. Perry atoned for his mistake by scoring the best goal of the match, a terrific drive from forty yards out, which had the New Barking goalkeeper beaten all the way.

A Newman scored the sixth goal, and J. Nice the seventh, and W. Davis the final goal and his fifth goal during the match. So ended one of the tinnest games the Dockers have played this season against a very poor team.

Next week the Dockers play Chadwell Social and Sports Club at Central Park, and a good game should be witnessed. H.G.W.

FORD'S WIN AGAIN.

MEMBER WINS CROSS-COUNTRY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Sports won another London (Division 1) game at Grays on Saturday, when they defeated Grays by 3-2. They had the better opening exchanges and scored early stages through Hum-Grays equalised, but Ford's lead again before the interval. Ford led to their score in the half, and Grays replied.

Saturday Ford's play North Brimsdon.

Romford League Cup Ford defeated Briggs Bodies by 3-0. Winners were Thompson (2), and Ford.

Saturday Ford's meet Vanhoe at Grays, in the sixth round of the Junior Cup.

DEPARTMENTAL LEAGUE. Saturday's results:—"B" Line Furnace 3; Engine Assembly 2 and Shipping 2; Foundry 0, the 1.

Saturday's fixtures are: Blast and General Offices, Stock and v. "Y" Line, Machine Re-Miscellaneous Steel; Foundry the Assembly.

ATHLETIC SECTION. Ireland, a well-known member of Ford Sports, won the London Houses cross-country championship over four miles, at Wembley on Saturday. He set a quick time and soon led a field of 170 runners. Very soon he had gained a big lead and he won in the fast time—of 29 minutes 55 seconds. He means distressed after the race, in fact, was in surprisingly good condition.

Members of the Ford team competed also ran well, and in the club to be placed fourth out of thirteen competing teams. W. H. finished ninth, and E. Har- was placed 35th.

and, who has been regarded as the club's most promising runner, started his preparations for the early in October, and each week has seen a marked improvement in his form. He ran at Cambridge University second in October 31st, and the following week competed against Oxford's team, finishing a few seconds behind K. Hawkey, the Blue, over 7 1/2 miles.

Two weeks later he returned in the of 43 minutes 37 seconds at the international runner, A. Mansburg, over 7 1/2 miles.

RUGBY. Sports XV, were a player short Saturday in their match against Grays, but they managed to win by 3 pts. to nil. The "A" were at home to Grays "A" and won by 16 pts. to 9 pts., while the "B" registered a win against Surrey by 24 pts. to 6 pts.

ENGLISH SCHOOLS SHIELD ROUND 3.

DAGENHAM DEFEAT HOLDERS.

West Ham (Joint Holders) 1, Dagenham 3.

For this game at the Spotted Dog on Saturday, Dagenham made some changes in the team that so undeservingly lost at Southend and brought in some of the Sun team. The team was as follows: Boake (Warren); Gundtek (Eastbrook); Wager (Marley); Bamber (Triptons); Aldridge (Goresbrook); Booth (Goresbrook); Martin (Triptons); Pointing (Halbutt); Cottle (Halbutt); Box (Triptons); Seager (Marley).

West Ham won the toss and elected to play with the wind. From the start they attacked with Gibbs showing up well. The Dagenham attack, however, showed great smartness in getting the ball to the other end. In the visiting defence Aldridge was superb and was rendered fine support by Wager and Bamber. Time and again the home attack got within shooting range, but found that the gigantic Boake was in fine form. Higgins, at centre-forward, got through but hit the bar. The West Ham forwards were a very good line but could not beat the best defence they have met this year. Towards the interval the Dagenham boys showed up better and forced Coughlin and his backs to kick anywhere. In a West Ham break, Cundick missed a centre from Gibbs and Higgins scored. Half-time: West Ham 1, Dagenham 0.

On the resumption, Dagenham attacked and following smart work by Aldridge and Pointing, Martin centred accurately for Box to head a great goal. Not to be denied, astute work by Pointing saw Aldridge send in a great shot which Cottle cleverly deflected into the net. Dagenham crowded on all sail and amazed the crowd with a bewildering display of football. Martin and Pointing played havoc with the West Ham left flank, whilst Seager was very dangerous on the other wing. Box and Cottle showed great thrust, whilst behind them Aldridge was magnificent both in attack and defence. Pointing was the star in attack and following good work by Bamber he hit the bar with a terrific drive. Shortly afterwards he wriggled through the defence and put the ball across to Cottle who made no mistake. West Ham tried desperately to reduce the lead, but could not penetrate a resolute defence. Aldridge and Wager thwarted all efforts. The Dagenham attack was still dangerous and Pointing gave the home defence a bad time with his shrewd passes which found excellent response from a clever forward line.

Final score: West Ham 1, Dagenham 3.

DAGENHAM AND DISTRICT LEAGUE - DIVISION I.

DOCKERS OVERWHELM NEW BARKING.

Dagenham Dock 8, New Barking 1.

The Dockers entertained New Barking Wanderers at the Midlands, and had one of their easiest wins this season. The Dockers won the toss and decided to kick against a very strong breeze, and from the very kick-
